The same	tendal-Borstel Airfield
EG - uncommunication		25>
s LUNTION	DI LOS OPPULIES
7	After development to a production of the product	25 X 1
∰ DF CO!		25>
ë detain	ED_ 2 February 1953	THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN
ETENCES
CONTRACTOR CONTRACTOR AND	3 ENCLOSURES (No. & TYPE) 1 - one sketch on ditto	Me i Me i man i me i cono ano
A KS		THE STREET, ST
		······································
	This is LINEVALUATED Information
140 - 1200 All White Address Commence	This is UNEVALUATED Information	25X
1.	On 17 November 1952, a sentry, who wore red-bordered black epaulets without insignia, was observed in front of Neue Kaserne near Stendal-	25.
1.	Borstel airfield. Eight squads of 9 or 10 unarmed men each were being given basic training in the barracks yard. Some soldiers were seen working on two trucks, the wheels of which had been removed. On 19 November, a sentry wearing red-bordered block constitution of the second secon
1.	Borstel airfield. Eight squads of 9 or 10 unarmed men each were being given basic training in the barracks yard. Some soldiers were seen working on two trucks, the wheels of which had been removed. On 19 November, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets without insignia was again seen in front of the barracks installation. Trucks arriving from the direction of Borstel carried a total of 40 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets to the barracks installation.	25)
	Borstel airfield. Eight squads of 9 or 10 unarmed men each were being given basic training in the barracks yard. Some soldiers were seen working on two trucks, the wheels of which had been removed. On 19 November, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets without insignia was again seen in front of the barracks installation. Trucks arriving from the direction of Borstel carried a total of 40 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets to the barracks installation and then proceeded toward Stendal.	25)
2.	Eorstel airfield. Eight squads of 9 or 10 unarmed men each were being given basic training in the barracks yard. Some soldiers were seen working on two trucks, the wheels of which had been removed. On 19 November, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets without insignia was again seen in front of the barracks installation. Trucks arriving from the direction of Eorstel carried a total of 40 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets to the barracks installation and then proceeded toward Stendel. No activities were observed at the barracks installation on 25 November. At about 5 p.m., about 80 unarmed soldiers in fathering in f	25)
2.	Borstel airfield. Eight squads of 9 or 10 unarmed men each were being given basic training in the barracks yard. Some soldiers were seen working on two trucks, the wheels of which had been removed. On 19 November, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets without insignia was again seen in front of the barracks installation. Trucks arriving from the direction of Borstel carried a total of 40 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets to the barracks installation and then proceeded toward Stendal. No activities were observed at the barracks installation on 25 November. At about 5 p.m., about 80 unarmed soldiers in fatigues were observed returning from the direction of the airfield to the barracks installation. They were followed by six officers with artitle returning installation.	25)
2.	Borstel airfield. Eight squads of 9 or 10 unarmed men each were being given basic training in the barracks yard. Some soldiers were seen working on two trucks, the wheels of which had been removed. On 19 November, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets without insignia was again seen in front of the barracks installation. Trucks arriving from the direction of Borstel carried a total of 40 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets to the barracks installation and then proceeded toward Stendal. No activities were observed at the barracks installation on 25 November. At about 5 p.m., about 80 unarmed soldiers in fatigues were observed returning from the direction of the airfield to the barracks installation. They were followed by six officers with artillery insignia. On 5 December, the barracks installation was guarded by a resulting from the direction was guarded.	25)
2.	Borstel airfield. Eight squads of 9 or 10 unarmed men each were being given basic training in the barracks yard. Some soldiers were seen working on two trucks, the wheels of which had been removed. On 19 November, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets without insignia was again seen in front of the barracks installation. Trucks arriving from the direction of Borstel carried a total of 40 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets to the barracks installation and then proceeded toward Stendal. No activities were observed at the barracks installation on 25 November. At about 5 p.m., about 80 unarmed soldiers in fatigues were observed returning from the direction of the airfield to the barracks installation. They were followed by six officers with artillery insignia. On 5 December, the barracks installation was guarded by a soldier who were red-bordered black epaulets. About 10 squads of 8 to 10 men each received basic training without weapons. Some of the officers character acceptance and the second received basic training	25)
2.	Borstel airfield. Eight squads of 9 or 10 unarmed men each were being given basic training in the barracks yard. Some soldiers were seen working on two trucks, the wheels of which had been removed. On 19 November, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets without insignia was again seen in front of the barracks installation. Trucks arriving from the direction of Borstel carried a total of 40 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets to the barracks installation and then proceeded toward Stendel. No activities were observed at the barracks installation on 25 November. At about 5 p.m., about 80 unarmed soldiers in fatigues were observed returning from the direction of the airfield to the barracks installation. They were followed by six officers with artillery insignia. On 5 December, the barracks installation was guarded by a soldier who were red-bordered black epaulets. About 10 squads of 8 to 10 men each received basic training without weapons. Some of the officers observed near the barracks installation were red-bordered black epaulets with artillery insignia. No training activities were observed at News Kasanne on 12 December.	25) 2
2.	Borstel airfield. Eight squads of 9 or 10 unarmed men each were being given basic training in the barracks yard. Some soldiers were seen working on two trucks, the wheels of which had been removed. On 19 November, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets without insignia was again seen in front of the barracks installation. Trucks arriving from the direction of Borstel carried a total of 40 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets to the barracks installation and then proceeded toward Stendal. No activities were observed at the barracks installation on 25 November. At about 5 p.m., about 80 unarmed soldiers in fatigues were observed returning from the direction of the airfield to the barracks installation. They were followed by six officers with artillery insignia. On 5 December, the barracks installation was guarded by a soldier who were red-bordered black epaulets. About 10 squads of 8 to 10 men each received basic training without weapons. Some of the officers observed near the barracks installation were red-bordered black epaulets with artillery insignia. No training activities were observed at Neue Kaserne on 13 December. Truck occupied by 16 soldiers were no 13 December. Truck	25) 2
2.	Borstel airfield. Eight squads of 9 or 10 unarmed men each were being given basic training in the barracks yard. Some soldiers were seen working on two trucks, the wheels of which had been removed. On 19 November, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets without insignia was again seen in front of the barracks installation. Trucks arriving from the direction of Borstel carried a total of 40 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets to the barracks installation and then proceeded toward Stendal. No activities were observed at the barracks installation on 25 November. At about 5 p.m., about 80 unarmed soldiers in fatigues were observed returning from the direction of the airfield to the barracks installation. They were followed by six officers with artillery insignia. On 5 December, the barracks installation was guarded by a soldier who wore red-bordered black epaulets. About 10 squads of 8 to 10 men each received basic training without weapons. Some of the officers observed near the barracks installation wore red-bordered black epaulets with artillery insignia. No training activities were observed at Neue Kaserne on 13 December. Truck occupied by 16 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets arrived from the direction of Borstel. On 16 December, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets are seen in forth to the sentry wearing	25) 2
2.	Borstel airfield. Eight squads of 9 or 10 unarmed men each were being given basic training in the barracks yard. Some soldiers were seen working on two trucks, the wheels of which had been removed. On 19 November, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets without insignia was again seen in front of the barracks installation. Trucks arriving from the direction of Borstel carried a total of 40 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets to the barracks installation and then proceeded toward Stendal. No activities were observed at the barracks installation on 25 November. At about 5 p.m., about 80 unarmed soldiers in fatigues were observed returning from the direction of the airfield to the barracks installation. They were followed by six officers with artillery insignia. On 5 December, the barracks installation was guarded by a soldier who were red-bordered black epaulets. About 10 squads of 8 to 10 men each received basic training without weapons. Some of the officers observed near the barracks installation were red-bordered black epaulets with artillery insignia. No training activities were observed at News Kaserne on 13 December. Truck occupied by 16 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets arrived from the direction of Borstel. On 16 December, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets was seen in front of the barracks installation. At night, all the windows of the barracks installation.	25) 2
2.	Borstel airfield. Eight squads of 9 or 10 unarmed men each were being given basic training in the barracks yard. Some soldiers were seen working on two trucks, the wheels of which had been removed. On 19 November, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets without insignia was again seen in front of the barracks installation. Trucks arriving from the direction of Borstel carried a total of 40 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets to the barracks installation and then proceeded toward Stendal. No activities were observed at the barracks installation on 25 November. At about 5 p.m., about 80 unarmed soldiers in fatigues were observed returning from the direction of the airfield to the barracks installation. They were followed by six officers with artillery insignia. On 5 December, the barracks installation was guarded by a soldier who wore red-bordered black epaulets. About 10 squads of 8 to 10 men each received basic training without weapons. Some of the officers observed near the barracks installation wore red-bordered black epaulets with artillery insignia. No training activities were observed at Neue Kaserne on 13 December. Truck occupied by 16 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets arrived from the direction of Borstel. On 16 December, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets are seen in forth to the sentry wearing	25)
2.	Borstel airfield. Eight squads of 9 or 10 unarmed men each were being given basic training in the barracks yard. Some soldiers were seen working on two trucks, the wheels of which had been removed. On 19 November, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets without insignia was again seen in front of the barracks installation. Trucks arriving from the direction of Borstel carried a total of 40 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets to the barracks installation and then proceeded toward Stendal. No activities were observed at the barracks installation on 25 November. At about 5 p.m., about 80 unarmed soldiers in fatigues were observed returning from the direction of the airfield to the barracks installation. They were followed by six officers with artillery insignia. On 5 December, the barracks installation was guarded by a soldier who wore red-bordered black epaulets. About 10 squads of 8 to 10 men each received basic training without weapons. Some of the officers observed near the barracks installation wore red-bordered black epaulets with artillery insignia. No training activities were observed at News Kaserne on 13 December. Truck occupied by 16 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets arrived from the direction of Borstel. On 16 December, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets was seen in front of the barracks installation. At night, all the windows of the barracks installation were lighted. Source made a sketch of the installation.	25>
2. 3. 1	Borstel airfield. Fight squads of 9 or 10 unarmed men each were being given basic training in the barracks yard. Some soldiers were seen working on two trucks, the wheels of which had been removed. On 19 November, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets without insignia was again seen in front of the barracks installation. Trucks arriving from the direction of Borstel carried a total of 40 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets to the barracks installation and then proceeded toward Stendal. No activities were observed at the barracks installation on 25 November. At about 5 p.m., about 80 unarmed soldiers in fatigues were observed returning from the direction of the airfield to the barracks installation. They were followed by six officers with artillery insignia. On 5 December, the barracks installation was guarded by a soldier who were red-bordered black epaulets. About 10 squads of 8 to 10 men each received basic training without weapons. Some of the officers observed near the barracks installation wore red-bordered black epaulets with artillery insignia. No training activities were observed at News Easerne on 13 December. Truck occupied by 16 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets arrived from the direction of Borstel. On 16 December, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets was seen in front of the barracks installation. At night, all the windows of the barracks installation were lighted. Source made a sketch of the installation. The field from 27 November through 3 December and the field from 27 November through 3 December. Truck of the field from 27 November through 3 December. The pagine planes at the field from 27 November of IL-10s and three twin-	25)
2. 3. 1	Borstel airfield. Fight squads of 9 or 10 unarmed men each were being given basic training in the barracks yard. Some soldiers were seen working on two trucks, the wheels of which had been removed. On 19 November, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets without insignia was again seen in front of the barracks installation. Trucks arriving from the direction of Borstel carried a total of 40 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets to the barracks installation and then proceeded toward Stendal. No activities were observed at the barracks installation on 25 November. At about 5 p.m., about 80 unarmed soldiers in fatigues were observed returning from the direction of the airfield to the barracks installation. They were followed by six officers with artillery insignia. On 5 December, the barracks installation was guarded by a soldier who were red-bordered black epaulets. About 10 squads of 8 to 10 men each received basic training without weapons. Some of the officers observed near the barracks installation wore red-bordered black epaulets with artillery insignia. No training activities were observed at News Easerne on 13 December. Truck occupied by 16 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets arrived from the direction of Borstel. On 16 December, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets was seen in front of the barracks installation. At night, all the windows of the barracks installation were lighted. Source made a sketch of the installation. The field from 27 November through 3 December and the field from 27 November through 3 December. Truck of the field from 27 November through 3 December. The pagine planes at the field from 27 November of IL-10s and three twin-	25>
3. 1	Borstel airfield. Eight squads of 9 or 10 unarmed men each were being given basic training in the barracks yard. Some soldiers were seen working on two trucks, the wheels of which had been removed. On 19 November, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets without insignia was again seen in front of the barracks installation. Trucks arriving from the direction of Borstel carried a total of 40 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets to the barracks installation and then proceeded toward Stendal. No activities were observed at the barracks installation on 25 November. At about 5 p.m., about 80 unarmed soldiers in fatigues were observed returning from the direction of the airfield to the barracks installation. They were followed by six officers with artillery insignia. On 5 December, the barracks installation was guarded by a soldier who were red-bordered black epaulets. About 10 squads of 8 to 10 men each received basic training without weapons. Some of the officers observed near the barracks installation wore red-bordered black epaulets with artillery insignia. No training activities were observed at Neue Kaserne on 13 December. Truck occupied by 16 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets arrived from the direction of Borstel. On 16 December, a sentry wearing red-bordered black epaulets was seen in front of the barracks installation. At night, all the windows of the barracks installation were lighted. Source made a sketch of the installation.	25) 25) 2

SECRET, 25X1 2 ca 25X1 Biplanes also took off and landed. During the air activity, two radio trucks, a van-like flight control truck painted black and white, a fire truck, an ambulance and two tank trucks were seen at the landing field. One of the radio trucks had a rod antenna 5 meters high, while the other radio truck 25X1 ∠5X I was fitted at all four corners with a rod antenna 2 meters high. A marking panel was laid out on the take-off strip. A soldier, who wore a fur-lined flying suit, signaled the planes with a red flag. The boundaries of the landing strip were marked by red and white flags. From 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on 9 December, there was flying by ground attack planes. 25X1 the new coat of paint given to the ground attack aircraft in November was dark green and not, as originally assumed. black. The color of the propeller hubs could not be determined. 25X1 25X1 The aircraft of the smaller unit were still painted green-blue. < 25X1 5. 25X1 a practice alert in early 1953. crated bombs were stored near the aircraft. At the beginning of the alert, three bombs were attached to each of the wings of the ground attack planes. 6. On 12 December, a low wooden building of about 20 x 5 meters was completed west of the Jarchau stop on the Stendal-Arneburg railroad line. 25X1 a radio installation was being built. Wooden structural parts were seen beside the completed building. Soviet sentries guarding the construction site came from the airfield and were quartered in a farm house. 7. 25X1 About 2 p.m. on 13 December, biplanes landed at the field at intervals of about 5 minutes. When the first plane landed, an officer approached the plane and apparently gave directions to its pilot. The plane had a crew of two and took off again without delay. When the second plane landed, one member of the crew left the plane, and his place was taken by an officer. The plane took off again. On 13 and 14 December 25X1 27 aircraft south and southeast of the hangars. 25X1 more aircraft were stationed at the field. Two take-offs were observed at about 1:30 p.m. on 14 December. 9. A wire fence 2 to 2.5 meters high was observed along the Stendal-Borstell highway, 6 to 8 meters distant from the road. In mid-December, a number of shrapnel-proof aircraft revetments was observed about 20 meters distant from this wire fence. additional revetments at other 25X1 places of the installation. On 16 December 25X1 the patch of woodland southeast of the target ranges at the field was cleared. Piles of red bricks were seen in this area.

SECRET

SECRE!

25X1

11. From 24 Pecember 1952 through 5 January 1953, individual biplanes made local training flights at the field. At 10 a.m. on 6 January, 10 planes took off and headed east. Twenty ground attack aircraft remained at the field.

25X1

a Soviet officer was ordered to leave the field with an advance party and the loading of equipment had been started during the preceding nights.

12. At 10:30 a.m. on 28 December 40 low-wing monoplanes at the field. Other planes could not be made out because of restricted visibility. There was no flying.

25X1

25X1

Comment. For sketch of Neue Kaserne, see Annex. The installation is believed to quarter an AAA unit, three 37-mm gun batteries of which are emplaced at Borstel airfield.

25X1

2. Comment. According to available information, a ground attack and an air reconnaissance regiment equipped with IL-10 aircraft are stationed at the field.

25X1

Comment. The Jarchau railroad stop is about 4 km east of Stendal airfield. The radio installation referred to may be the outer landing beacon.

25X1

Comment. This information indicates that one of the air units stationed at the field will be transferred. After late 1952, several ground attack units of the Twenty-Fourth Air Army were moved to other airfields.

25X1

STOCETET

Annex

Neue Kaserne near Stendal Airfield

SECRET